CAMERON TO PLAY GAME IN FREDRICKSBURG

Cameron must go to Fredricksburg on Friday night, December 6 for the Bi-District Game with the Hill Billies.

Decision to take the game to that city was made when the Fredricksburg committee offered to pay $2500.

Coach Leo Jackson, Superintendent W. T. Hanes, Dr. C. G. Swift, President of the School Board, and Dick Young, high school principal and line coach met the Fredricksburg delegation in Austin Wednesday. Tossing a coin to determine the site of the game was declined in view of the excellent financial tender.

Decision to take the offer of $2500 came after Cameron had offered $2000 and this was refused. Fredricksburg would not come to Cameron at any price for a night game. In the event of a coin toss the league rule giving option on day game would have been invoked.

Coach Leo Jackson made the decision and says he can give the Yocemen a better chance to win with the T formation in a night game.

DAILY HERALD RECEIVES NEW CYLINDER PRESS

The Cameron Daily Herald, popularly known as The Midget, has just received valuable equipment in the form of a cylinder press which will soon be in operation.

The press, pony size, was purchased in Crane, Missouri and was delivered to the Herald plant Saturday. The addition of this equipment will enable the publishers to remove the Midget from platens and print it on a cylinder press.

When this press is in operation the size of The Midget may be increased to full tabloid or held at its present size. In any case all four pages can be printed at one time. The press will also be available for other printing, being a great utility in any plant.

The Daily Herald will soon be open to advertising which the publishers have not been able to accommodate due to lack of space.

The Daily Herald was established in June 1939 and at the time was the only daily of its kind in the United States. It continues to be unique and widely read.

BOYCE HOUSE GIVES YOU TEXAS

There are some people whose first question, when any proposal is advanced, is:

What is there in it for me?

These people do not believe that a man will do anything unless he expects to reap a financial benefit for himself.

And yet you know of parents who sacrifice for their children—preachers content to make a bare living in order to preach Jesus Christ and Him crucified—teachers who go on teaching when they could make more money in something else—because they love to teach.

Some of the finest "breaks" I've ever received came because some friend perceived an opportunity and thought of me as the man for the opening. This was a disinterested act, a service rendered to a friend.

When you do something generous and unselfish, you do get something out of it; you get the satisfaction of doing something for others.

Back when I was a newspaper reporter, I attended two funerals on successive afternoons. One was the funeral of a financier and theatrical producer. He had made millions, but he had forgotten to make friends. There was not a moist eye at the service.

The other funeral was that of a school janitor. They held the service in the school auditorium; it was felt that the scene of his labors should be the place where the last rites for him should be held—besides, there was not a church in the community big enough to hold all who wanted to attend.

He had been hard-working, honest, honorable, quiet, unpretentious. The teachers respected him. The students and all the thousands who had been students during the many years he had served, loved him. Three ministers took part in the service; all three had tears in their eyes as they spoke.

Making money is all right, but there are other things to life—for example, doing something for others.

Miss Mary Lou Walton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ewell Walton of Route 4 spent the holidays with friends in Crockett. Miss Walton is employed at Newton Clinic.

Christian Science Services

Thanksgiving Day services are held each year by The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts, and its branches throughout the world. The order of service includes the reading of a Lesson-Sermon on the topic of "Thanksgiving," and opportunity is afforded for testimonies of gratitude to be expressed appropriate to the occasion. The public is cordially invited to attend these services.

The Golden Text is: "Let the peace of God rule in your hearts, to the which also ye are called in one body; and be ye thankful" (Colossians 3:15).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Let all those that seek thee rejoice and be glad in thee; and let such as love thy salvation say continually, Let God be magnified" (Psalms 70:4).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Let us learn of the real and eternal, and prepare for the reign of Spirit, the kingdom of heaven,—the reign and rule of universal harmony, which cannot be lost nor remain forever unseen" (page 208).

ABERDEEN, MD. — The army's mightiest secret weapon — a super-heavy tank of nearly 100 tons—went on public view for the first time. So heavy it runs on double tracks to keep from sinking into the ground, the T-28 was intended for the assault on the German West Wall, but was built too late to fire a hostile shot. The tank, protected by thick armor and mounting a 105-millimeter gun, is the heaviest vehicle ever built for the ordnance department.

Clothes Scarce Until Next Year

Survey of Industry Shows Shortage Will Run Well Into 1947.

NEW YORK.—In a survey recently completed here it was the consensus of industry sources that clothing shortages will hound the consumer and will continue to affect every member of the family at least until the end of the year. Men's business shirts and children's underwear, women's lingerie and nylon hosiery were listed as just a few types of clothing in which supply is expected to get worse before it improves.

"All articles made of cotton or rayon are in short supply and will continue to be, at least until early next spring," one buying representative said. Men of the family continue to be the hardest hit, and the children come next. The only real shortages facing the women are popular priced lingerie and nylons, which are expected to become progressively scarcer with approach of the Christmas season.

Output Controlled.

Some of the reasons given for continuing shortages were:

Unprecedented demand still eats up whatever merchandise reaches store shelves.

Some types of cotton goods are caught in a price squeeze. Textile ceilings have been increased to reflect a rise in raw cotton prices, but the ceilings of finished goods have not yet been raised.

Manufacturers of some types of rayon and cotton goods cannot fill their requirements for materials because of the increasing amount of output controlled by integrated set-ups in which one management handles all phases of production and distribution.

Certain mills continue to concentrate on sub-standard or non-standard types of cotton fabrics whereas the heaviest demand is for standard types.

Maximum prices allowed to be charged for goods made from priority materials in some instances are below permissible ceilings on the basis of cost factors.

Nylon yarn allocations to hosiery makers have been cut an estimated 10 to 15 per cent.

Shortages of skilled labor, lack of priority assistance in some cases and shortages of such materials as linings and pocketings have imposed additional difficulties.

In men's wear the supply of worsted suits is improving, but "it is unlikely that a supply-demand balance will be reached in men's suits before the fall of 1947," said Jerome Udell, clothing manufacturer.

Build Up Stocks.

Inventories of topcoats and overcoats are being built up gradually as are stocks of tweed and Shetland suits. But even by next fall, Udell said, it is doubtful that retailers will be able to build well-balanced and complete inventories.

Clothing sources said it was impossible to appraise immediately the effect of the order allowing men in the armed forces to wear civilian clothes when off duty, but they did not view it as too serious a problem.

While the CPA estimated it would send about two million more men clothes hunting, manufacturers considered it probable that their interest might center in casual clothes rather than in business suits, where the shortage is most acute.

National Association of Shirt and Pajama manufacturers described the shirt situation by saying "the outlook is as bad as it ever was." Men's underwear falls into the same category.

Retail inventories of shoes generally were said to be adequate at the moment, but the outlook depends on whether the supply of hides improves in the near future.

Most infants' and children's cotton knitted clothing is high on the hard-to-get list. Undershirts and sleepers are the scarcest items, while knitted panties are easier to find.

"We are going to feel the shortage of all cotton knitted underwear this winter," an underwear institute spokesman said, adding that heavy-weight types are in shortest supply.

Chinese Dollar Drops Down To 4,100 for One U. S. Dollar

SHANGHAI. — Chinese dollars touched an all-time low — 4,700 to $1 U. S. — then slumped back to 4,100 to $1. The telephone office is just about the busiest place you can imagine these days. There are more telephones connected to the switchboard and more calls a day than ever before.

Operators are doing their best to keep the speed and quality of service abreast of heavy demands. They handle most of your calls promptly, but sometimes, during very busy periods, there are more calls than they can answer as quickly as they'd like.

Shortages of lead and copper and steel and other materials that go into the making of telephone equipment are holding back expansion of the telephone exchange here and in scores of other towns. ### A Lesson In Conservation

We were sitting on Bill Webster's porch the other night, chatting over a glass of beer—when the talk turns to forest preservation, soil erosion, and other things that affect a farming community.

Judge Cunningham speaks up: "It's all right to worry about conserving our natural resources," he says, "but there's a far bigger problem when it comes to conservation—and that's preserving our democratic way of life, our sense of personal freedom, our respect for one another's rights."

From where I sit, the Judge is right. All America's great resources, our abundant natural wealth, are lost the minute we lose the right to work them as free people in a free land!

Whenever you see or hear of an encroachment on our rights—whether it's the right to free speech, or the right to vote as we see fit, or the right to enjoy a friendly glass of beer in licensed, law-abiding places... watch out!

Russian Composers Ordered To Modernize Their Music

He criticized Soviet chamber and vocal music for what he termed its leaning toward the lyrical movies of the past, thus ignoring the present.

Gets $10,000 Worth of Home

For Just One Dollar Bill

BUFFALO.—For $1 Anthony Carnevale bought two houses assessed at about $10,000.

And the previous owner, a bottling concern, is satisfied that it was "a good deal."

An officer of the firm explained: "We bought the two houses adjoining our bottling plant several years ago, intending to raze them and add on to our plant."

"However, because of material shortages, we decided to wait."

"Carnevale operated a grocery store on the corner but his building was in poor shape. He came to us and offered to buy the two houses. We sold them to him for 50 cents each."

"It was a good deal for both of us. We save the cost of demolition and he gets two good houses."

HAMBURG, GERMANY.—The British zone is sending iron and steel to Russia's occupation zone in return for grain, fuel and other products.

British officials, announcing this, said use of the Russian-zone fuel in Berlin would save transport required to bring in Ruhr coal.

The British said American occupation authorities were informed of the development.

E. A. WALLACE DIED AT HOME HERE NOV 17

Eugene A. Wallace, 75, widely known pioneer lawyer in Milam county, died at the home of his son, W. C. Wallace in Cameron at 12:30 a. m. Sunday, November 17.

Mr. Wallace died from a heart attack. He became ill in the night and left his home on East 13th street and went to the home of his son where he died shortly after.

He had been active in the practice of law until his death, spending a full day at his offices in the First National Bank Building on Saturday. Mr. Wallace was a native of Holly Springs, Mississippi and was born on December 19, 1870 the son of the late pioneers, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Wallace who moved to Rockdale in this county when he was one year old.

Mr. Wallace spent his youthful days in Rockdale, attending the grade schools and high school and entered the University of Texas Law School, graduating before he had reached his majority. When he began the practice of law in Rockdale he was 20 years old, having his disabilities as a minor removed. He began practice of the law with the late pioneer Nat Tracy, colorful barrister. Mr. Wallace also was associated in the practice with other lawyers in that city before moving to Cameron. His first partnership here was with the late W. A. Morrison.

Mr. Wallace married Miss Daisy Smith of Cameron, from a prominent early family. She was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Smith. She died 5 years ago. One daughter, Margaret who was Mrs. Ira Perry, Jr., of Austin died some years ago.

Mr. Wallace had been a resident of Cameron for many years, coming to this city from Rockdale where as a young man he began practice of law. He was among the best known lawyers in Texas and as a member of the Milam County Bar, served his profession with great distinction and honor through the years.

Among his early practice association here was the firm of Chambers, Wallace & Gillis and later when Judge Gillis quit the firm to become District Judge the firm continued under the name of Chambers & Wallace.

When the late Judge Gillis was elected District Judge the law firm continued until the death of the late W. W. Chambers and then Mr. Wallace established his own firm, later having the association of his son, W. C. (Bill) Wallace, and continued active in practice until the time of his death.

Mr. Wallace was widely known, not only as a great lawyer but an intellectual as well. In his young days he was a leading Democrat and never forgot the early principles of his party. He was notably a leader during the turbulent days of the Bailey campaigns and the campaigns of the late James Stephen Hogg. He had served his party as Democratic Chairman in this county.

Mr. Wallace was for many years a member of the Cameron School Board and a civic leader.

When war came to America on December 7, 1941 his sons, Lt. Bill Wallace and Staff Sgt. John H. Wallace, volunteered for service. Sgt. Wallace was killed in action in the Southwest Pacific Area. He was with the Army Air Corps and a gunner with a crew flying the Liberator 4 motored bomber. In his message to the father here, General Ulio of the Army said that Sgt. Wallace had lost his life in defense of his country in action. Few details were then available but it was known that Sgt. Wallace lost his life while on a bombing mission, the ship being lost at sea. Lt. Bill Wallace, Harvard Law

Graduate, was with the United States Army in the Pacific, later having been transferred to the General Headquarters of General Douglas MacArthur in Manila where he was attached to Intelligence Service, a branch in which he had been cited for extraordinary achievement.

Surviving children are the one son, Bill Wallace of Cameron; Mrs. Dan Collins, formerly Miss Eugenia Wallace, of Cameron; and Mrs. Cornelius Jones of New York, sculptress who spent a number of years in Paris.

Five grand children survive as follows: Mrs. Charles Moore of Corpus Christi, Miss June Perry and Harding Collins now in the University of Texas, Wallace Collins and John Craig Wallace of Cameron. Two great grand children also survive.

Brothers and sisters survive as follows: John Wallace, Lee Wallace and Mrs. B. F. Cone of Minerva; Mrs. W. P. Conley of McGregor; H. W. Wallace of Cuero, and Mrs. E. H. Blum of Colorado City, Texas.

Funeral services were held Monday, November 18 from the chapel of the Phillips and Luckey Funeral Home in Rockdale, at 3 p. m. with interment in the Odd Fellows Cemetery. Rev. E. O. Harrell, pastor of First Presbyterian Church in Cameron, conducted the services.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Willis and Mrs. Coy Arledge visited at Sewell Hospital in Belton Tuesday evening to get acquainted with their new granddaughter and niece, Linda Diann.
